Executive Moves: UPS, Imperial Logistics and CII

UPS names president of supply chain solutions, Imperial Logistics selects chief commercial officer, and CII appoints executive director and senior advisor.

Gilbert most recently served as regional CEO of the Americas for DB Schenker Logistics and was based in Miami. Prior to that, he was regional CEO for West Europe from 2013 to 2015 and was based in Paris.

From 2005-2013, Gilbert served as executive vice president for GEODIS Wilson, the freight management division of the GEODIS Group.

He has also held leadership roles in the logistics space with Saga S.A., Circle International and Eagle Global Logistics.

Imperial Logistics International has appointed Sandro Knecht to the newly-created position of chief commercial officer. Knecht will be based in Zurich.

He most recently worked as CEVA Logistics, where he spent seven years in senior management positions, most recently as executive vice president of global supply chain solutions, and a member of the Global Business Development Board.

Prior to that, he spent 17 years at Panalpina World Transport, where he held several senior positions.

The Containerization & Intermodal Institute (CII) has named Lisa LoManto Aurichio executive director, succeeding Barbara Spector Yeninas, who served as executive director since 1985 and has now been named senior advisor. Aurichio will continue her position as president of BSY Associates, Inc. (BSYA), the international marketing communications and special event agency founded by Yeninas in 1974.

BSYA will continue as the CII secretariat. Aurichio will work in tandem with Yeninas, who remains as BSYA Chairman, to oversee and execute programs and projects for international trade and transportation leaders.
